VII. Evaluation:

What have you learned in your chosen course or topic?

In this seminar, I learned more about character building and learning more about myself, and what I should learn to have a comfortable and happy work life. In the first half of the seminar, the speaker talked about the characteristics of the cartoon, SpongeBob SquarePants, and we identified the characters based on the traits provided on the screen. After that, the speaker talked about the questions that a person dreads to answer such as “What are your strengths and weaknesses?”, people dread this question as it shows vulnerability. Lastly, the speaker talked about qualities and traits such as humility, character, and charity.

The second speaker talked about the Filipino Work Values Scale; the results of the test done before the seminar were shown to everyone and it shows the scores of different traits a student has in regards to their preferences in a workplace.

Overall, this seminar is more about building yourself to fit into the workforce that we will go into once we go into OJT and what workplace we feel comfortable in when choosing a job.
