Scribbles and Schemes Early Childhood Center

Dear Mrs. Mosqueda,

Good day! We are fourth-year IT students from Adamson University, currently working on our capstone project, which aims to develop a website titled "ETugma: Tutor Matching System with Assessment for Scribbles and Schemes Early Childhood Center." The objective of this project is to create a platform that allows students to easily find tutors and provides a way for tutors to connect with potential clients.

As part of the development process, we wanted to inform you, as our beneficiary, that we will be utilizing a test version of Xendit, an API for integrating payment methods. This decision is necessary since the live version of the API has not yet been activated due to compliance and policy requirements on Xendit's end.

We would like to present this feature during our upcoming preliminary defense on Sunday, October 13, 2024, unless the live version of the API becomes available prior to that date.

We appreciate your understanding and continued support for our project.

Respectfully yours,

Gabriel Roger Taan
